The World's No.1 Trade Fair for Plastics and Rubber

K is the world's biggest trade fair for the plastics and rubber industries. It is the world's key flagship fair in terms of its quantitative and qualitative performance characteristics. This applies as much to its array of exhibitors, visitors as to its products. The leading raw material producers, processing companies and machinery manufacturers offer an overview of the latest technical developments, procedures and techniques, of current construction methods and future trends. The whole spectrum of products and processes - from global market leaders to young spin-offs - are presented in Duesseldorf. K offers the biggest and broadest spectrum of trade visitors worldwide. Decision-makers and practitioners from important processor and user industries gather information on new developments. This makes K the world's foremost information and order platform for global business in the plastics and rubber industry, for more than 70 years now.
