BIOFACH

16.02.2027 - 19.02.2027 | Germany, Nuremberg

World´s Leading Trade Fair for Organic Food

BIOFACH is the world's most important and largest trade fair for organic products. It is organized by NuernbergMesse under the auspices of the International Federation of Organic Agriculture Movements (IFOAM).

BIOFACH is THE get-together for customers, suppliers, all partners and potential new customers. Nowhere else do all the organic stakeholders meet personally in a comparable way than at BIOFACH.

This is where supply meets demand - for both visitors and the exhibiting companies. Manufacturers present their company and products to the whole community observing and analysing the market and positioning themselves for the competition at the same time.

The exhibition is used for image building by manufacturers and traders and all the stakeholders involved. With media representatives from all over the world the events offer a powerful PR platform and huge media visibility in the whole world.

The BIOFACH Congress together with the individual forums, is the sector's international platform for knowledge and opinions. Market players and representatives from politics and associations provide information and discuss important future issues at the congress.

The product range at the BIOFACH is extensive and varies from organic certified food, fruits, vegetables, wines to organic textiles and other natural products. The international demand for natural personal care and body care products has been growing for years. The product range covers high-quality, certified natural personal care and body care products along with drugstore articles. The range is complemented by products from the areas of natural-based, organic pharmacists, cures and remedies, wellness and accessories.

FOR TRADE VISITORS: Please note that we don’t issue any tickets or invitations for this trade fair. NuernbergMesse exclusively sells tickets on their website but doesn’t issue any invitation letters as they are not required for visa applications any more. Trade fair tickets are sufficient.
